

GOFF AND HOWLAND.

Some Hints as to What He May Bring Out Regarding Police Whiskey.

GOFF OFFICIALS MIXED UP IN IT.

Liquor Dealers Forced to Sign Affidavits Denying Other Affidavits They Made.

PORTS TO EXPOSE THE GANG.

Some Newspapers Knew the Facts but Decided at the Last Moment Not to Print them.

The slight reference made before the Lexow investigating committee yesterday to the Hollywood Whiskey Company, and the fact that liquor dealers had been forced to sign affidavits denying the existence of the company, has set the public wondering what it all means. The reference, however slight, seems to indicate that Lawyer John W. Goff intends, when the committee resumes its sessions, to have all the facts laid bare, as he cannot do so, however, for several months to come. "The Evening World" to-day throws a little light on that corporation and the manner in which, from comparative obscurity, it rose in a night, as it were, to be a big concern, with its headquarters in a majority of the saloons in this city.

It is not generally known that about six years ago the wholesale liquor dealers were in despair over the sudden impetus given to the sale of Hollywood whiskey, some of the factors of which were driven out of the business. For years they had supplied whiskey to the retailers, particularly of the small-er class. The relations between wholesaler and retailer were of the most cordial nature until about the time stated, when the wholesale men gradually began to be driven out of the business. The first they could not understand the cause, until one day a certain retailer entered the office of Peter McQuade, a well-known wholesale man and one of the officers of the corporation, and said: "I am sorry," the retailer began, "I owe you a lot of money, Mr. McQuade, but I cannot pay it, as I will be able to do so for a long time."

"No hurry about that," was the reply, "you can get your whiskey from me just the same."

"But I cannot, Mr. McQuade. The police will not let me buy from you," the retailer said.

"I am sorry," the retailer began, "I owe you a lot of money, Mr. McQuade, but I cannot pay it, as I will be able to do so for a long time."

The wholesale dealer, Mr. McQuade, had heard of the Hollywood whiskey, but he did not know it. He knew that the corporation had struggled for years, but the dealer was not interested in it. He asked many questions of the retailer, and elicited the information that the corporation was a new one, and that the dealer had been told that he would have to buy the Hollywood whiskey, or else close up his business. The retailer did more business on Sunday than on any other day of the week. McQuade called a meeting of the officers of his society and the facts were laid before them. It was decided to send a number of the retailers as possible, and to see how far the threats had extended. The investigation was made, and as a result they learned that the corporation was a new one, and that the dealer had been told that he would have to buy the Hollywood whiskey, or else close up his business.

The retailer went to work on his "sensational" story, and the police were given to him. The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him. The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him.

The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him. The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him. The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him.

The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him. The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him. The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him.

The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him. The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him. The retailer was given to him, and the police were given to him.

hatched in a newspaper office, but one was hatched in a night to the managing editor. He was actually deceived, and thrust upon a party of friends, who kept him until after midnight. He had, over the telephone, satisfied himself that everything was running smoothly at the office, and he was actually deceived. He was actually deceived, and thrust upon a party of friends, who kept him until after midnight.

He hurried into the composing-room and scanned the news. There on the page, under big headlines, was the story of the police officials' connection with the Hollywood Whiskey Company.

The story was lifted from the form and other stories put in to fill its place, and what was probably the nearest attempt at publishing in detail the Hollywood whiskey story had been crushed.

About six months later another newspaper was hatched in a night to the managing editor. He was actually deceived, and thrust upon a party of friends, who kept him until after midnight.

He hurried into the composing-room and scanned the news. There on the page, under big headlines, was the story of the police officials' connection with the Hollywood Whiskey Company.

The story was lifted from the form and other stories put in to fill its place, and what was probably the nearest attempt at publishing in detail the Hollywood whiskey story had been crushed.

About six months later another newspaper was hatched in a night to the managing editor. He was actually deceived, and thrust upon a party of friends, who kept him until after midnight.

He hurried into the composing-room and scanned the news. There on the page, under big headlines, was the story of the police officials' connection with the Hollywood Whiskey Company.

The story was lifted from the form and other stories put in to fill its place, and what was probably the nearest attempt at publishing in detail the Hollywood whiskey story had been crushed.

About six months later another newspaper was hatched in a night to the managing editor. He was actually deceived, and thrust upon a party of friends, who kept him until after midnight.

He hurried into the composing-room and scanned the news. There on the page, under big headlines, was the story of the police officials' connection with the Hollywood Whiskey Company.

The story was lifted from the form and other stories put in to fill its place, and what was probably the nearest attempt at publishing in detail the Hollywood whiskey story had been crushed.

About six months later another newspaper was hatched in a night to the managing editor. He was actually deceived, and thrust upon a party of friends, who kept him until after midnight.

He hurried into the composing-room and scanned the news. There on the page, under big headlines, was the story of the police officials' connection with the Hollywood Whiskey Company.

The story was lifted from the form and other stories put in to fill its place, and what was probably the nearest attempt at publishing in detail the Hollywood whiskey story had been crushed.

About six months later another newspaper was hatched in a night to the managing editor. He was actually deceived, and thrust upon a party of friends, who kept him until after midnight.

HIS ASHES TO THE SEA.

All that Is Left of Jaeger to Be Cast Off at Homer Shoals.

It Was There He Fished for Years with the Jolly Robbers.

Four Pounds of Human Dust to Be Scattered on Thursday.

With his fat friend Capt. Dan Gell as high priest, and the Jolly Sea Robbers as mourners, the mortal remains of Philip Jaeger will be committed to the deep off Homer Shoals next Thursday.

This is a bona fide funeral and not a joke. Philip Jaeger was an old New York resident, with hosts of friends in his time, and the disposition of his body in the manner and form adopted is in faithful pursuance to the terms of his last will and testament, for which he left an adequate appropriation.

Jaeger was a German by birth, and a German he remained to the end. He had a saloon at Tenth Street and Broadway, and it was there he had to spare from his business he spent with the Jolly Sea Robbers. The Jolly Sea Robbers were a German origin in the club, most of whom are sailors and old sports, although they are not sailors now.

Once every two weeks the club carried a tug to the sea, and the Jolly Sea Robbers were on hand at all these functions. He had buried two brothers in the sea, and he was now to be buried in the sea.

So far as the political situation is concerned it seems to be finally determined that M. Bureau, who was offered the Premiership, and who persisted in declining that honor, has decided to accept the Presidency of the Chamber of Deputies.

It is asserted on M. Bureau's behalf that he was obliged, by the advice of his physicians, to relinquish the task of forming a Cabinet.

On the other hand, M. Dupuy, after consulting with his colleagues, informed Casimir-Perier this morning that he had consented to remain Premier.

It was officially announced this afternoon, contrary to expectations, that there will be no change in the Dupuy Cabinet.

M. Goron, the Chief of Detectives, has resigned, and his resignation is said to be due to the fact that he has been severely criticized for his handling of the Puck Meyer, a Jersey saloon-keeper, who had been charged with the murder of a man.

In addition to the facts already cabled to the Associated Press, showing that the actual murderer had accomplices, a despatch from Marseilles this morning announced that a soldier detained in the military prison at that place, had been charged with the murder of a man.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

LIBERTY WILL BEAM.

Capt. Sohley Has Not Been Ordered to Abolish the Light.

Says There Was No Appropriation Last Year, Either.

Will Use General Funds to Defray the Expenses.

The Statue of Liberty light, on Liberty Island, will beam to-night. It will still continue to illuminate the waters of New York Harbor, notwithstanding that Congress has failed to make the extra $10,000 appropriation requested by the Lighthouse Board for its support.

This fact was assured to an "Evening World" reporter this morning by Capt. W. S. Sohley, who was at his office in Tompkinsville, S. I.

"The Lighthouse Board," said he, "has not instructed me as the inspector of lighthouses to extinguish Liberty's light and so far as I know, will not. We will endeavor to continue to maintain it, though we have to do so by using money from the general appropriation fund."

"Much has been said about the limited amount of money which is appropriated by Congress to supply the necessary new beacon lights at points where they are absolutely needed, and the safety of life and property is at stake. It is true, but that appropriation does not appear in the schedule for the fiscal year beginning to-morrow. Neither did it last year, but the light burned just the same."

Capt. Sohley said that the light could not be run for less than $10,000 a year, which includes the running of the machinery, oil, wood and material of all kinds. The new will be welcome to New Yorkers who love the great Bartholdi statue of Liberty.

One of the men attached to the American Committee of the Statue of Liberty said this morning:

"We would be glad to hear the expense of maintaining the light, but we have not finished raising the fund with which we hope to complete the statue. The great concern is to get the statue on the base, and other things to be done for the statue. The statue is a great work of art, and it is a great work of art."

"The World" gave us the statue, particularly speaking, and I think it will have to help us complete it."

WANTS ALDERMEN PUNISHED.

The Mount Vernon Election Quarrel in Court Again.

Roger M. Sherman appeared before Justice Gaynor in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, this morning and asked that Democratic Aldermen Jenks, Macgowan, Milligan, Fisk and Uhlert, of Mount Vernon, be punished for contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman represents Theodore A. Stephenson, a taxpayer. Mr. Sherman claimed that Judge Gaynor had some reason for punishing the Aldermen, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

reported here. One death from the disease has occurred.

GREAT TOWER BRIDGE OPEN.

Prince of Wales Performs the Ceremony, While Thousands Cheer.

LONDON, June 30.—The Great Tower Bridge was formally opened to-day by the Prince of Wales in the name of the Queen.

The weather was blustering hot. The scene was a magnificent one. Tens of thousands of persons lined the route of the royal procession, and the streets were gaily decked with flags and bunting.

The ceremony took place at noon, when the Prince of Wales, by means of an electric button, opened the enormous bascules, which have been built so as to allow the loftiest vessel to pass unimpeded.

A flourish of trumpets, the thundering of guns from the Tower, loud and enthusiastic cheering from the crowds and the shrieking and tooting of the whistles of the launches and steamers on the river announced the completion of this work.

The Bishop of London, wearing his robes and hoods, pronounced the benediction and the officials connected with the construction of the bridge were received by the Prince on behalf of the Queen. The massed bands then played the National Anthem and two steamers, decked with bunting, passed through the bridge amid tremendous cheering.

Extraordinary precautions were taken to guard the royal family. Every detective and policeman in the metropolis who could be spared from regular duty was stationed at some point along the route of the procession or else about the bridge.

RUSSIAN SHELLS SUPERIOR.

Remarkable Result of an Armor Test at St. Petersburg.

LONDON, June 30.—A despatch to the Times from St. Petersburg says: "A trial was made yesterday of six 16-inch armor plates, the face of which had been hardened by the Harvey process. A 6-inch Oboukhoff gun was used. The first test was made with the latest improved Hotchkiss shells. These were stopped by the plates and smashed. A test was then made with similar shells, with a Russian secret improvement, and the shells were stopped by the plates, not only pierced the plates, but sped a distance of some thousand yards to the rear of them."

"When recovered the shells were found to be undamaged, and this in spite of the fact that they were fired at an obliquity of eight to ten degrees. This experiment proves that Russian shells are a projectile superior to any hitherto invented. Further experiments will be made at a greater obliquity."

COLLIDED WITH AN ICEBERG.

Big Hole Knocked in the Scandi-navian, from Boston.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

GLASGOW, June 30.—The Allan Line steamer "Seydlitz," Capt. Gunter, which arrived at Greenock to-day from Boston, reports having been in collision with an iceberg in mid-ocean. A large hole was knocked in the steamer, four feet above the water line, and her bowsprit and figure-head were carried away.

LIBERTY WILL BEAM.

Capt. Sohley Has Not Been Ordered to Abolish the Light.

Says There Was No Appropriation Last Year, Either.

Will Use General Funds to Defray the Expenses.

The Statue of Liberty light, on Liberty Island, will beam to-night. It will still continue to illuminate the waters of New York Harbor, notwithstanding that Congress has failed to make the extra $10,000 appropriation requested by the Lighthouse Board for its support.

This fact was assured to an "Evening World" reporter this morning by Capt. W. S. Sohley, who was at his office in Tompkinsville, S. I.

"The Lighthouse Board," said he, "has not instructed me as the inspector of lighthouses to extinguish Liberty's light and so far as I know, will not. We will endeavor to continue to maintain it, though we have to do so by using money from the general appropriation fund."

"Much has been said about the limited amount of money which is appropriated by Congress to supply the necessary new beacon lights at points where they are absolutely needed, and the safety of life and property is at stake. It is true, but that appropriation does not appear in the schedule for the fiscal year beginning to-morrow. Neither did it last year, but the light burned just the same."

Capt. Sohley said that the light could not be run for less than $10,000 a year, which includes the running of the machinery, oil, wood and material of all kinds. The new will be welcome to New Yorkers who love the great Bartholdi statue of Liberty.

One of the men attached to the American Committee of the Statue of Liberty said this morning:

"We would be glad to hear the expense of maintaining the light, but we have not finished raising the fund with which we hope to complete the statue. The great concern is to get the statue on the base, and other things to be done for the statue. The statue is a great work of art, and it is a great work of art."

"The World" gave us the statue, particularly speaking, and I think it will have to help us complete it."

WANTS ALDERMEN PUNISHED.

The Mount Vernon Election Quarrel in Court Again.

Roger M. Sherman appeared before Justice Gaynor in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, this morning and asked that Democratic Aldermen Jenks, Macgowan, Milligan, Fisk and Uhlert, of Mount Vernon, be punished for contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman represents Theodore A. Stephenson, a taxpayer. Mr. Sherman claimed that Judge Gaynor had some reason for punishing the Aldermen, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Mr. Sherman said that the Democratic Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court, and that the Aldermen were guilty of contempt of court.

Tortured Disfigured Humiliated.

By unsightly skin and blood diseases.

Is there hope of cure?

CUTICURA RESOLVENT

Is the greatest of skin purifiers, As well as blood purifiers.

Because of its peculiar action on the PORES.

It is successful in curing Torturing, disfiguring, humiliating humors,

When the usual remedies and even The best physicians fail.

Entirely vegetable, innocent and effective,

It especially appeals to those who have Suffered long and hopelessly

It acts upon the liver, kidneys and bowels, as well as upon the skin and blood.

Its use at this season Insures a clear skin and pure blood, As well as sound bodily health.

It is the only Purifier acting on the Skin and Blood at the same time.

Sold throughout the world. Price, CUTICURA, 25c. Resolvent, 50c. Perfection, 75c. How to Cure Skin and Blood Humors, free. All-Weather Blemishes, falling hair and simple skin diseases, cured by Cuticura.

If tired, aching, nervous humors knew the comfort, strength and vitality in Cuticura. Plaster they would never be without them.

MADE SHORE INSPECTOR.

Charles R. Stillwell Appointed by Commissioner Emery.

Health Commissioner Emery, of Brooklyn, to-day appointed Charles R. Stillwell shore inspector. Mr. Stillwell will have a soft berth in a slight degree similar to that occupied by Cornelius Ferguson, the Pooh-Bah of New Utrecht. While Ferguson's sinecure nets him $300.00 a year, Stillwell will receive $8.00 a month. He will inspect the shore along Coney Island and the creek.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Mrs., she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Mrs., she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Mrs., she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Mrs., she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Mrs., she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Mrs., she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Mrs., she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Mrs., she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Mrs., she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

Excursions.

Long Island Railroad's

Great Excursions to the Sea.

MANHATTAN BEACH.

TRAILING BEACH COUNTRY.

Excursions to the Sea.

Excursions to the Sea.

Excursions to the Sea.

Excursions to the Sea.

Excursions to the Sea.

Excursions to the Sea.

Excursions to the Sea.